Profile

I'm a hardworking and motivated individual specialising in creating online written content. I am an excellent writer with skills in editing, proofreading and SEO. I currently work on website content for a range of clients from all industries.

Career summary

Creative Specialist at GoDaddy Nottingham, June 2019 - Present

I currently write content for both 123 reg and Go Daddy websites, dealing with a wide range of businesses daily. I may be writing about a number of different topics and so research is a large part of my job. I take pride in understanding briefs and delivering to customers exactly what they asked for. I enjoy the challenge of working within a time constraint and not knowing what I will be working on from one day to the next.

English Teacher at Joseph Wright College Derby, September 2018 - June 2019

I taught GCSE, Functional Skills and A-level English. This placement improved my proof reading skills, my ability to confidently deliver presentations, and my communication skills. I liked to see my students as clients and I believed it was my job to understand what they needed and, as can be the case with clients, they were unaware of what that is. Therefore, I assessed and planned what would be most beneficial for them, and delivered great content to help them succeed.

Bar Staff at Revolution Lincoln, September 2017- June 2018.

Barmaid at Red Lion Rugby. June 2016- August 2017

Writer at The Tab Lincoln. September 2015 – December 2017.

I wrote articles for an online newspaper called 'The Tab', which has a large online presence within UK Universities. I wrote for the Lincoln branch of 'The Tab'. My first article received up to 30,000 views and 1,000 shares on Facebook. I have written 6 articles in total and was named the most read writer for several months within 2016.

Bar Associate at JD Wetherspoons Rugby. May – August 2015
